8. Additional Questions

Help us to get to know you better. Be yourself. There is no right or wrong answers. Please type your answers on a separate sheet in English and attach to the application form. Write your name and school as well as the date in the corner of each page.

1. Tell us the field of study that interests you. Why? How did your interest develop?
2. How are you going to apply the knowledge from your courses in your work after university to benefit the country?
3. Choose three adjectives to describe yourself. Comment briefly on your choice
4. Why do you think you are the right person to receive the Goodwill Leadership Development Scholarship Award?
5. If you receive a Goodwill scholarship award, are you willing to participate in Goodwill activities, including our training programs and 'meet the sponsor' gathering? If you answer is "yes", how are you going to arrange your time as you may have classes and other activities?
6. If you would like the Goodwill Committee to know any special circumstances not reflected in your application, please describe.

9. Profile

In order to attract prospective sponsors to support your education, we have to write your profile. Please help us to write a concise profile for the purpose of convincing the perspective sponsors to support your education. Include your background, achievement, experiences and activities, and why it should be attractive to the prospective sponsors. Please, note that writing your own profile is like writing a short essay about yourself. We don't want your CV.

10. Essays

Your essays are a very important part of your application. We want to get to know you. We also want to see how well you present yourself.

For each question below, please type a one page essay with approximately 300–400 words in English. Make sure to put your name and your school as well as the date in the corner of each page. Attach the essays to your application form. Note: One essay answering three questions is not acceptable.

1. Name a non-religious figure, person (other than your family), place, book or event that has affected you and caused you to change your outlook on life.
2. Describe an experience that has given you a sense of satisfaction or pride. Explain why you were satisfied or proud.
3. Describe a situation or activity in which you took a leadership role. What qualities do you possess that distinguish you as a leader?
